

BC Pension Corporation Names New CEO

VICTORIA – The British Columbia Pension Corporation is delighted to announce the appointment of Laura Nashman as Chief Executive Officer.

Ms. Nashman brings a wealth of public sector experience to her position. Before coming to the Pension Corporation, she had served since 2002 as Commissioner of Employee and Business Services for the regional municipality of Peel, Ontario, which provides municipal services to more than one million Ontario residents. Ms. Nashman has also held executive roles in human resources, information and technology services, information management, real estate, construction and facilities management. She holds Bachelor of Arts and Master of Industrial Relations degrees from the University of Toronto.

Ms. Nashman is recognized as an accomplished senior executive who brings a dedication to customer service, executive vision and strategic leadership to her role. Her corporate philosophy focuses energy on building personal relationships, creating efficient business processes and leveraging technology to deliver superior results.

"This phase for the corporation is about building on the tremendous success of this organization," says Ms. Nashman. "Investing time and energy in our business operations will not only enable us to maintain the high levels of services that plan members have come to expect, but will also position us well to enhance the service experience."

Ms. Nashman's assignment is effective December 1, 2008. She succeeds previous CEO Gail Stephens, who left the corporation in March 2008.

The Pension Corporation is one of Canada's largest pension benefit administrators, serving the boards of trustees for the largest public sector pension plans in British Columbia and representing over 440,000 active and retired plan members and more than 800 plan employers. The corporation administers the pension plans for College, Members of the Legislative Assembly, Municipal, Public Service, Teachers' and WorkSafeBC.
